Which Will It Be?

The Clipper wonders what choice Gov. O'Neal will make as to appropriations "with a string to them." A large part of the money appropriated by the late legislature can only be expended when the governor orders that the treasury is in condition to stand the expenditure. Will the additional appropriation for the common schools be favored? Will the colleges get theirs?

So far the newspapers are very quiet on the subject. Governor O'Neal is doing very little talking on the subject—in fact none at all so far as we have heard of. And Superintendent Willingham is having very little to say—a little less if possible than the governor. The superintendent may be pulling the wires privately. If he is, we wonder for whom his efforts are being used? For the Normal Schools? Perhaps for the University. Old school, its age, and its landed endowment, and its prestige, and its expensive tastes all demand that the University's appropriation shall be paid to the uttermost farthing. Indeed there is the justification of Holy Writ in favor of the full payment to the University and the other well-to-do colleges of what the generous lawmakers said they should have, for does not the Book say "to them that hath shall be given?"

To Gov. O'Neal is given a great deal of power in regard to state expenditures, a grant of power seldom vested in an executive. The legislature made about all the appropriations that were asked, generally with the "string" tied on. Now it is the province of the governor to say which ones shall and which ones shall not get their appropriations, for no one expects to see them all paid.

The colleges will have influential men working for their appropriations. They can show just how much show will be made, and there will be something to what they will say, for a few barrels of money in a lump will make a show. The extra appropriation to the common schools will make very little show—it has to be divided between so many schools. Yet the good it will do can not be doubted. Yet unless Supt. Willingham puts in a good word with Gov. O'Neal the common school appropriation will have no advocate. No one school will be benefitted enough to make the fight for its little share.

Was Surplus in Treasury.

A Bit of Ancient History That is not so Ancient.

Tongue and buckle meeting has been a hard job in Alabama's state treasury annals more times than once. In fact the legislature of Alabama have often spent more freely than they should have done. Back in the nineties the school teachers shaved their claims at usury in order to get the where-withall to pay their board bills.

When Gov. Jelks came into office in the summer of 1901 the Constitutional Convention was considering the proposition of reducing the state's limit of taxation from seventy-five cents a hundred dollars to sixty-five cents.

The state tax rate was then at 75 cents, the top, and Governor Jelks and close friends of his strenuously opposed the reduction. It was pointed out that the state was barely able to get along on its income with the 75 cents rate. But the members of the constitutional convention could not resist the opportunity to cut off a little of state's power to levy property taxes, and the reduced rates went into the constitution of 1901.

With reduced taxing power, Gov. Jelks put his fine financial ability to work, and with fair cooperation by the legislature, able administration of the state's convict and other money-making departments, and rigid economy along all lines, he was able to pile up a surplus of nearly two million dollars, the famous Jelks surplus that you've no doubt forgotten about.

Gov. Jelks gave out a statement along in 1905 to the effect that he was thinking of calling the legislature together to spend the state's money, put it back among the people, and also to reduce the state tax laws. Jelks said the proper place to spend the money was for the common schools. He was a plain man, with considerable horse sense, and he could not see where the state would get its money's worth in giving millions to colleges and creating new officers and giving bigger pay to old officers.

Back there when Jelks was governor the people feared legislators as much as they do now, though up to that time there had not been much cause for distrust as there has since. The people and the newspapers almost unanimously favored giving the money to the common schools and would have liked to see the state tax rate lowered; but they even more unanimously opposed getting the lawmakers together in special session. Gov. Jelks heeded the wishes of the people, and left the money that had accumulated for the next administration to spend. It did so.

Gov. Jelks did a good thing in maintaining the credit of the state, and in showing what an economical administration of public affairs could do. With a constitutional reduction in the tax rate he piled up a big surplus. And that surplus has been doing hurt to Alabama ever since, for much harm frequently comes from doing right, and good sometimes from doing wrong, so complex is the maze of human follies and frailties in the hands of destiny.

Gov. Jelks built a great surplus on a reduced tax rate, and without any new and unusual license taxes, and with the tax commissioners practically all idle. Gov. Comer's legislature appropriated the surplus Jelks left, and a few millions more. And Gov. Comer's new license tax and his new state tax commission managed by herculean efforts to pay the big appropriations, but did not leave to Gov. O'Neal very much of a surplus; in fact none at all. But Gov. O'Neal's legislature had seen another governor get a fabulous amount of money together by raised and new taxes, so that it naturally thought that the present governor would get the money from some where, some how, and it appropriated accordingly. And Gov. Jelks and his surplus are indirectly to blame—innocently of course.

It seems like a fairy tale to talk about a surplus in the state treasury, yet Gov. Jelks left it there, and he accumulated it despite the fact that he went in office upon his elective term with a cut of nearly one-seventh in the tax rate. We just tell it here as something remarkable—something to be told the children—and "lest we forget." And Jelks went out of office four years ago last January.

Gov. Jelks gave out a statement along in 1905 to the effect that he was thinking of calling the legislature together to spend the state's money, put it back among the people, and also to reduce the state tax laws. Jelks said the proper place to spend the money was for the common schools. Card Game Causes Tragedy.

Geneva, Ala., May 16—As the result of a quarrel which originated at a game of cards, Fred Clements was shot early Sunday morning by Marion McGee, and died exactly twelve hours later. The shooting took place on the principal street of the town, three shots being fired, only one of which took effect, and that passing entirely through the head of Clements just above the eyes. McGee made his escape immediately after the shooting and is still at large.

Clements' body was interred in Geneva cemetery Monday morning. The coroner's jury, summoned to investigate the shooting, rendered a verdict late Monday afternoon to the effect that "Clements came to his death by pistol shots inflicted by Marion McGee, and that the said killing was unlawful and unjustifiable."

OFF TO LITTLE ROCK.

Special Trains Carried Veterans.
Efforts of Governor Hoke Smith to secure special trains, bearing Confederate veterans to the annual reunion which is to be held in Little Rock this week, left Saturday Sunday.

The Southern road operated two special trains, one leaving at 4:45 Saturday as second No. 35, and the other leaving at 5:00 as third No. 36. The Seaboard Air Line also operated special trains for the veterans, the first leaving the union station at 4:00, and the second departing ten minutes later. They had six cars each. The Western and Atlantic railroad operated one train of ten cars. The veterans came from all over the Southern states north of those going to the reunion from this section passing through Atlanta en route. There were several hundred of the veterans, some during their brief stay in the city as well as if the reunion were being held in Atlanta.

As the party were a majority of the members of the local camps of Confederate veterans, each camp being represented by a delegation of considerable size.

The six local camps are Camp Walker, Camp Anderson, Stonewall Jackson, Wheeler Longstreet, and Atlanta Camp No. 159.

The reunion this year promises to be one of the largest ever held by the veterans. According to reports, the city of Little Rock has made splendid preparation for their entertainment, and it is expected that they will not come prepared to spend any money.

After the governor's speech of welcome the meeting went into executive session. President Barrett made a speech relating what had been accomplished in the past by the Farmers' union, and what it proposed to accomplish in the near future.

An additional $50,000 was given, to be available July 1st next for the use of the state board of education to be expended in securing experts on agricultural subjects to deliver lectures at farmers' gatherings over the state. SEEK FOR IMMUNITY BATH.

United States Supreme Court May Pass on Immunity Statute.
The government's case against the so-called bathtub trust took a twist at Washington which may involve an interpretation of the immunity statutes by the supreme court of the United States and may possibly thereby affect nearly every antitrust prosecution now under way.
The Caldwell Lead company, one of the defendants in the government's civil suit, asked the supreme court to review Judge Howland's recent decision in the United States circuit court in Philadelphia, that one defendant in the case, when called by another as a witness, could not claim the protection of the immunity statutes. The department of justice holds that congress intended the immunity statutes to protect witnesses justifying for the government. Judge Howland so ruled. Department of justice officials declare that to allow immunity to one defendant in an antitrust case because he is called as a witness by a co-defendant would practically emasculate the Sherman law.

SOUTHERN BAPTISTS.

Two Thousand Attend Jacksonville Convention.
Delegates to the Southern Baptist convention met at Jacksonville, Fla., this week.
It is believed that there will be fully 2,000 in attendance.
There are several candidates for the presidency. Dr. B. D. Gray, of Atlanta, is said, will probably be elected.
There are several cities bidding for the next convention. It will probably go to some city west of the Mississippi river.

Says a Tallahassee, Fla., dispatch: The income tax amendment will come up for action on a special order on next Tuesday at 10 o'clock. There is a grave doubt as to its passage through the senate, if the members vote as they talk. If it should pass, the vote will be very close.

Free Sample For Baby's Ills

Something can and must be done for the puny, crying baby, for less in its sleep. And since the basis of all health is the proper working of the digestive organs, look first to the condition of the stomach and bowels.
A child should have two full and free movements of the bowels a day. This is with it comes a clear head, a bright eye, good appetite and sound sleep. But it is equally important to know what to give the child in the emergency of constipation and indigestion. What are the best remedies? Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin? It is a liquid tonic that families have known for a quarter of a century. It is the best of all. It is good for you as well as for the child. There is nothing better to be had for children. They like its taste and they will not have to force them to take it.
First of all, if you have not yet used Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, you may try it before buying. Later, when convinced of its merits, you may order a bottle, just as thousands of other families are doing. The family of Mr. D. W. Starnes of Bartonsville, Va., as well as that of Mr. A. F. Johnson of Walnut Grove, Penn., are good examples of families that have found the free sample of this medicine to be of great value. Explain your case in a letter and we will reply to you in detail. For the free sample simply send your name and address on a postcard to Dr. E. D. Larkins, 1250 Caldwell building, Monticello, Ill.

An auction of "dead men's chests" will be held by Uncle Sam in Washington May 25, when there will be put on the block trunks and belongings of Americans who have died in various parts of the world, subsequently gathered up by our consular officers abroad. There are hundreds of purses, knives, pistols, cigar-holders, purses, pocketbooks, rings and charms that were the intimates of those who died in far-off lands with none to claim them or their estates. There are papers and deeds and money. All have been sent in from time to time since 1880 and have accumulated in the office of the auditor for the state and other departments. Their values are not known. No sale of the kind was ever made before.

Only Five Stores Spared by Fire in the Alabama Town.
With the better portion of the business section of Stevenson, Ala., in flames, subjects to deliver lectures at farmers' gatherings over the state, the inhabitants face a serious situation.
The fire, which broke out at midnight Saturday night, burned fiercely until 4 o'clock Sunday morning. The town is left with but few stores.
There was little insurance on the property destroyed.

GOOD LIVER REMEDY FREE

When you suffer from any form of indigestion it is always well to take something for the liver, as usually the trouble lies there. If you are bilious, Plainview, Ill., sent for one and it cured her and she is open in saying that she will never take pills or strong cathartics again, as Syrup Pepsin acts so mildly. Mr. W. L. Bryant, the Postmaster at Sardinia, Tenn., says he may be sure it is liver trouble. No sick person can afford to ignore a remedy so highly endorsed as this. It is good for all the family from infancy to old age, because it is mild, free from gripping and yet promptly effective. Furthermore, results are absolutely guaranteed or money will be refunded.

AL OF JINWRIGHT IN SUPREME COURT BEGINS

Bullock's Sheriff On Impeachment Trial Before Alabama's Highest Tribunal.

The Jinwright trial before the Supreme Court was begun yesterday. Sheriff Jinwright, it will be remembered, is sheriff of Bullock county. Some months ago a negro, who was wanted for a terrible crime near Goshen, was captured in Bullock county, and lodged in Sheriff Jinwright's jail at Union Springs. A few hours after the capture, the negro was taken from the jail and lynched; it is alleged that the lynching was done by the people who were friends and neighbors of the victim of the negro.

Following up the lynching, Gov. O'Neal ordered the Attorney General to institute impeachment proceedings against Sheriff Jinwright before the Supreme Court. Under the Constitution sheriffs may be impeached only by the Supreme Court, and this august

NEW BROCKTON NOTES.

General Green seems to be giving the farmers of this section considerable trouble to handle lately, judging from the smallness of the crowd in town Saturday evening.

Messrs R. C. Adams, J. L. Brock, and W. O. Brock, three hardware men of this place attended the Hardware Men's Convention at Montgomery last Monday. They report a good time.

Miss Janie Owen entertained at her home last Friday evening. All who went had an enjoyable evening.

Dr. J. J. Rivenbark, of this place visited Dothan and Montgomery last week.

Mr. H. E. Brock has just returned from a big fishing trip to the Dead Lakes Florida.

The ice cream supper given by the Ladies Aid Society Friday night was reported to be a success.

Miss Emily Barnhill of Enterprise visited Mr. Dan Hutchinson last week.

The base ball boys of New Brockton don't seem to be very eager to play ball this year. Boys we ought to get busy.

A number of young gentlemen from Enterprise were in Brockton Sunday evening.

A crowd of young people of New Brockton attended religious services at Richburg Sunday afternoon.

The town council voted another improvement, on the town last meeting night. They decided to have gas lights put in the school house. This will be a good thing for the band boys as they have been having considerable trouble about light to practice by down there.

Well, if this has not reached the waste basket yet I had better quit before it does. L. G. J.

Protracted Meeting.

Sunday a series of revival meetings were begun at the Methodist Church. Yesterday, Rev. J. B. Tate of Brundidge arrived to assist the pastor, Rev. J. F. Feagio in the meeting. The meetings have started off with considerable interest and attendance, and bid fair to be very successful.

Nizell Wins.

The Supreme Court of Alabama on Tuesday handed down a decision in the Samson majority contest, which sustained the legality of the election of Frank J. Mizell as mayor and O. J. Angle, T. A. Hendrix, J. G. Maloy, G. W. Canant and B. P. McDuffie as councilmen.

It will be remembered that the city election of last September was a double-barreled affair, the supporters of Holloway voting at one voting place and those of Mizell at another. Mizell polled the most votes and when the return of the office of the preceding Mayor and Council expired, Mr. Mizell and his council stepped in and took charge of the affairs of the city. Quo warranto proceedings were then instituted by the Holloway faction, claiming that the election of which Mr. Mizell was elected was illegal and that he and his councilmen usurped their offices.

The case was heard before Hon. H. A. Pearce in Geneva last December, the decision of Judge Pearce being favorable to Holloway. The case was then appealed to the Supreme Court, which court reversed the decision of the lower court.

LAZY LIVER SPOILS DAY'S WORK

Don't Let a Torpid Liver Knock You Out of a Day's Work—There is a Better Way—Read About It.

A man feels very little like working and a child don't want to go to school when bilious or constipated. If you try calomel to cure you the chances are that you will be so weakened by its after-effects that you will be laid up for two or three days more. So we say "Don't take calomel." We have a perfect substitute for calomel right here in our store, that we can fully guarantee to cure constipation and liver up the liver just as quickly as calomel, but without any of the bad after-effect of calomel. The name of this tonic is Dodson's Liver-Tonic.

It is a pleasant, tasting, vegetable tonic that mildly stimulates the liver and causes it to work just right to cleanse the body without any danger of salivation. When you try it if you do not say that it is a perfect substitute for calomel, come right in and get your money back. Elba Drug Co.

EIGHT NEGROES DIE AT HANDS OF MOB

Floridians Lynched Darkies Who Were Charged With Murder. Jail Opened by Means of Bogus Telegram.

Lake City, Fla., May 22.—Eight negroes were lynched in Florida and Georgia yesterday and today. Six of these were killed by the same mob at Lake City, Fla.

Seven of the victims were accused of murdering white men. The other shot his wife and a deputy sheriff who tried to arrest him. He was a preacher.

The six who were lynched at Lake City early yesterday were from Tallahassee and had been taken to former city for safe keeping. The mob which hanged and later shot them is thought to have made out the trip from Tallahassee, 100 miles away, in automobiles. Mark Norris and Jerry Gusto were the names of two of the negroes. The others had not been identified yesterday and there had been numerous arrests and the prisoners had been moved frequently and scattered in several towns.

Ben Smith was the name of the preacher. He was hanged near Swainsboro, Ga. Joe Moore was hanged and shot at Crawfordville, Ga.

Crawfordville, Ga., May 22.—Joe Moore, the negro, who yesterday confessed to having murdered Henry Googler, a wealthy farmer, Saturday night, was taken from the jail here late last night or early this morning and hanged to a tree. The mob overpowered the jailer. Quiet prevails today.

Rob As Masqueraders.

Lake City, Fla., May 22.—Six negroes were lynched here early Sunday morning after a party of a dozen men, masquerading as actors, appeared at the county jail and secured possession of the men by presenting a bogus telegram to the 16-year-old son of the sheriff, ordering the release of the blacks to the alleged posse. The negroes were being held here for safe keeping on the charge of murdering B. B. White, a saw mill man of Wadesboro, Leon county, and wounding another man named Register on May 12.

A Fishing Trip.

Editor of The Clipper:—
Friday night a party of Coffey countians returned from a fishing trip to Iola, Florida, on the celebrated Dead Lakes. The party consisted of Mr. and Mrs. M. Mizell and Miss Clara Moore. Mizell and Miss Clara Moore, Mr. Mizell, of Elba, and Hon. H. E. Brock of New Brockton, and Circuit Clerk Horace Brock.

Decidedly the youngest member of the party was Mr. H. E. Brock—that is, for the first little while after the fishing grounds were reached. He felt so good that he over-exerted himself and got sick; he just had to own up then that he guessed he was not "one of the boys." However, the next day he was all right, and the amount of fish he caught made him enjoy the trip immensely. They say the trouble with him was that he forgot it was a frolic that he was on, and fished like he works, which was too much for him under the Florida sun.

Mr. Marion Milford sustained his great reputation as a cat fish angler, and caught the biggest string of cat fish that has been caught on Dead Lakes in a long time.

Horace Brock thought Dead Lakes was the finest place he ever saw,—you see he found a widow there; ask his father to tell you about it.

The party was armed with yankee fishing tackle, that is, with casting-rods and reels. To hear them tell how many fish they caught, you would think there were none left for the next crowd. One of Milford's fish broke the scales the first day. On subsequent days when they caught some enough big fish, they were unable to weigh them, except by the scales on their backs.

Mr. H. E. Brock brought home a number of big ones on one just to let his home folks see that sales he told were true. However, they may not believe him, for good fish can be bought at Bainbridge, Georgia, which city the party passed through on the way home.

The writer of this had intended to tell the whole truth about this fishing trip, but each of the three men in the party has promised to turn over to him a big mess of fish the next time they go, and on that promise nothing more will be said for the present.
